

Ronald Beverly

Juror, "Texture," 2023

Ronald Beverly is a fine art photographer with an interest in creative and conceptual imagery. He produces images ranging from the literal to abstractions of nature emphasizing texture, tone, shape and the elusive quality of light.

Beverly is a professor in the Department of Media Arts and Technology at Montgomery College. He earned his Bachelor's in Fine Arts from Howard University and Master's in Fine Arts in photography from The George Washington University.

Beverly's photographs have been exhibited at the MGM National Harbor Heritage Collection in Prince George's County; the American Jazz Museum in Kansas City, Missouri; the PH21 Gallery in Budapest, Hungary and many other venues.

A recipient of the Individual Artist Award from the Maryland State Arts Council, he has presented at conferences and colloquia nationwide. Among the publications that have featured his work are Capitol File Magazine and the Washington Post Magazine Millennium Issue.

Beverly has served as a Juror for the ACT-SO Visual and Performing Arts Student Competition at Montgomery College.
